REPORTS.

Report of "Singapore"

The S.S. Orissa arrived at Galle on the morning of the 5th July in time to catch the S. S. Moolton which steamer had been waiting for the China mail four days. The Moolton, left for Suez on the 6th inst. Noon, and the Orissa for Bombay 4 P.M. same day.

The American steamer Ori Flamme arrived at Singapore from New York on the morning of the 14th. inst.

From Singapore "Daily Times."

Intelligence was received at Lloyd's by the ship Kent, which arrived at Plymouth on Tuesday, the 7th June from Melbourne, that on the 24th of April; in lat. 17 S., long. 32 W., she was boarded by the celebrated Confederate steamer Alabama, Captain Semmes. The officer who boarded the Kent reported that they had burnt, the previous day, the American ship Rockingham, bound from Calle for Queenstown, with guano. He said they had destroyed several other American ships, and had a great many prisoners on board.

From the "China Express."

CAPETOWN, April 20.—The Countess of Yarborough, Dumaresq, from Cardiff, which sailed hence April 16 for China, put back on the 18th, making 6 inches water per hour, having sprung a leak about 70 miles from this port, and will have to discharge part of cargo to be surveyed.

MAURITIUS, May 6.—The Agonaut, American ship, Norton, from Manilla to New York, with hemp, indigo, and sugar, put in here April 29, to stop a leak in her upper works, and is now discharging.

AT ST. HELENA.—April 21, Neuhof, Kuss, from Amoy, and sailed for New York; Trons, Desborough, from Manilla, and sailed for Boston; Mary Shepherd, Nicols, from Kanagawa, and sailed for London; Cymbeline, from Japan; 23, Eudora Barker, from Ningpo, and sailed for London,

STEAMERS FOR THE BRITISH INDIA STEAM COMPANY.—Messrs. Denny and Co., of Dumbarton, have launched a screw of 1,014 tons, named the Punjab: and Messrs. Simons and Co., of Renfrew, a screw of 800 tons, named the Madras, to be commanded by Captain Bowers, late of the China trade.

Vessels spoken.

Barque, Ocean King, London to China, May 11, 47 N., 9 W. Jane and Isabel, Cardiff to Shanghai, April 5. City of Quebec (ship), London to Shanghai, April 2, 37 S., 1 W. Apollo, Shanghai to New York, Feb. 4, 34 S., 31 E. Volunteer, Shanghai to New York, April 17, 22 S., 76 E. Philip I., Swansea to Hongkong, May 19, 47 N., 20 W. The Trimdon, Price, from Liverpool for Hongkong, put back to Liverpool May 28 leaky.

From the "Friend of China."

The remainder of the British steamer Illawarra was sold to day at Public auction, for the enormous price of $2 say two Mexican dollars, the first bid was 20 cents. The auction was a capital joke, and the payment for drinks was more important than the value of the steamer.

Freights are dull, and vessels will be compelled to lay up.

By the Syrian we have advices from Nagasaki to the 6th instant;—which day, our correspondent writes us, was the only one for a fortnight on which there had not been such a down fall of rain that locomotion and cargo shipping were matters of extreme difficulty. Referring to the list of eighteen merchant vessels arrived since the 1st. ultimo, he says—"They are all seeking employment and there is very little for them to do.—The "Surveying ships still in port.—

NEW AND INFALLIBLE METHOD.

Treatment instantaneous and radical cure of Corns and other excrescences of the Feet.

BY M. J. DEFRIES,
Chiropodist of the Imperial Houses of France and Brazil.

Having arrived on a professional visit to this Colony, can be consulted every day, between the hours of 10 A.M. and 4 P.M., at the "HOTEL D'EUROPE."

Where patients will be treated in a private apartment

Through the means of a new process, Mr. Defries expels the corn from the feet, as also any excrescences on the soles of the feet, without cutting them, or in any way puncturing the flesh.

He possesses an Elixir of his own invention, which stands preeminent in its efficacy for curing corns even should they have suppurated.

Mr. Defries operates without causing the smallest pain to the patient, who on the completion of the operation can wear a tight shoe without special inconvenience to the spot whence the corn may have been extracted.

Mr. Defries possesses a great number of testimonials of the highest class, which are at the service of the public for inspection. He begs that his method may not be confused with that of other Chiropodists. His stay here will be only one month, and he will attend the residence of any patients who may require his professional services.

HONGKONG, 23RD JULY, 1864.

THE Taipingshan murder case was resumed yesterday, at the Supreme Court, and resulted in a verdict at ten o'clock last night of "Not Guilty," by majority of six to one.
We shall give the remainder of the evidence in our Monday's issue.

THE Mail steamer Singapore, Capt, Blake arrived yesterday from Bombay bringing the London Mail of 10th. June. She did not experience any heavy blow, but the evidences of a typhoon not far off, were palpable from the agitated sea and lowering appearance of the clouds.—We have not received any telegram by this Mail.—The armistice between the Danes and Germans has been prolonged for another fortnight. It is probable (says the Globe) that hostilities may be resumed on 26th Inst.

Fro mour Paris Correspondent.
PARIS, 10th June, 1864.

THE Conference of London met yesterday, and after a laborious sitting it was decided by the plenipotentiaries present that the armistice concluded the 12th May last should be prolonged until the 27th June. It was time—three days more passed in the statu quo, and the battle would recommence between the Astro-Prussians and the Danes, the latter probably assisted by England.

This new resolution taken by the Conference of London must be interpreted in a pacific manner. Indeed, it is evident, that if there were not most serious reasons for believing in an amicable arrangement, the Danes and the Astro-Prussians would have prefered to finish directly and to battle the question by arms.

It is generally believed in the political world that the proposition of mediation put forward by England will be the one which will in the end be adopted. This is in what it consists. Holstein Lauenburg, and the Southern portion of Schleswig would be completely separated from Denmark. The new frontier of Denmark would be traced above the mouth of the Schlei and the Dannewerke. The Germanic Confederation would neither erect nor maintain fortifications on the territory given up by Denmark. It would also not construct fortified ports. Lastly the integrity of the Kingdom of Denmark the frontiers of which would be thus modified would be guaranteed by all the great powers.

No doubt to hasten the dénouement of this serious affair the English papers show themselves more warlike than ever, and the Morning Post especially is remarked on account of its excessive violence against Germany.

But this dissembling deceives no one; every one knows that the bullies of the Morning Post shake only a wooden foil.

On looking closely in to this Dano German imbroglio, we find that the antagonism between Prussia and Austria becomes plainer and plainer. M. Bismark is decidedly a clever man. He has regained by his decided attitude in the question of the duchies, the advantage acquired a year ago by Austria at the time of the assembly of the sovereigns at Frankfort. But M. Bismark does not wish to partake with Vienna its influence over Germany. He is not one of those timid racers who are ratified at arriving at the post ex æquo. He wishes that Berlin, that golden saddle on a sorry horse, as Voltaire says, may arrive the first, beating the Vienna filly. As a thorough bred jockey he spares neither the whip nor the spur. The Prussian people know something of it.

However this may be, it is asserted in the best informed circles, that if by chance the Conference should lead to nothing Prussia is decided to strike a great blow which would disconcert at the same time, Denmark, Austria and England. This is the combination of the first minister of King William, who has taken lessons in diplomacy at Paris while residing there as an Ambassador of Prussia. It consists in constituting the inhabitants of Schleswig masters of their own fate, even respecting the question of the duchies. This combination has been approved by the cabinet of the Tuileries. Prussia would then also become the champion of democratic ideas in Germany, and would cause universal suffrage to act under the long mustachios of the Crôatians in pay of the Emperor of Austria. This new comedy would not be the least pleasant one of the present time.

This new move of the Russian government is followed with anxiety by the English statesmen who discover in it the proof of a fact which has for a long time been suspected viz; the understanding existing between the cabinets of Paris and of Berlin.

The annulment of the treaty of 1852 relative to the Duchies will allow the Czar to reclaim the rights of sovereignty which he possesses over these duchies, and which he had ceded to the Branch of Glucksburg in consideration of this treaty. It is even said that the Emperor Alexander has already given up his rights to the Grand Duke of Oldenburg. It remains to be known whether the Czar intends to place at his disposition the arms necessary to prove that these rights are not illusory.

Let the affair be settled as soon as possible —either for peace or for war—but for God's sake have done with the question of the duchies, for in truth it is made up of intrigues of diplomatists, manœuvres of monarchs, to which democracy should and wishes to, remain a stranger.

You will no doubt learn with surprise Mr. Editor that religious questions are the order of the day in the country of Voltaire, that is to say in France. We must first note the dismissal of M. Renan from his seat of professor of the Syriac language. This instruction, due to the learned author of the Life of Jesus was not to the taste of the Clerical party, which did itself much harm by its efforts to cause M. Renan to return to private life. The will of women, and of priests is the will of God, says a proverb. M. Renan has just felt the truth of this aphorism and the Minister of Public instruction M. Duruy, was forced to sign a dismissal of which he highly disapproved. As appetite comes by eating, the clergy in spite of the law and the articles of the Concordat organised grand public processions in towns where there are great numbers of Protestants. Lamentable conflicts ensued and the gendarmes were called upon to interfere for the purpose of establishing peace between the two parties. Two clerical journals, the Journal des villes et compagnes, and the Paraisse have been so violent that the administration has thought proper to give them an avertissement. I blame these rigours, as a partisan of the liberty of the Press, but I must give you an example of the manner in which the papers of the clerical party espouse their polimidi opinions.

We will begin by gay subjects. There is a paper published at Paris entitled the Rosier de Marie. The Editor of this paper charged with the sporting intelligence terminates in these words an article in which he gives an account of the great victory obtained at the Grand Races of Paris by Vermont, a French horse, over the English horses; "Let us bless the heaven," cries this sacristan of the stable "which has allowed a Catholic horse to beat the Protestant horses."

This is but pleasant, the following is less so. If there be in Europe, a country happy, free, and grand, in spite of its small size, it is assuredly Belgium—J. M. Louis Veuillot, the last champion of Catholicism, the Prize fighter of Rome, the Billingsgate apologist of Temporal Power, has just made a voyage in the country where reigns King Leopold and liberty. He has published his impressions of the voyage in an article addressed to the Bien Public. Allow me Mr. Editor to place before your readers a few fragments of this factum. The pious writer examines the situation of Belgium. "The last word of all this," says he, "will be said by the torch and the guillotine. It will be the jubilee of 1793. Everything is being prepared for the fete. Voltaire, will think that he has killed God, Rousseau will kill Voltaire, and will then be devoured by some dog or other whom this flesh will poison. They will kill and the dogs will eat and will write.

And further on.

"The man who will finish everything will be he who pinioning the brute will lead her not to the convict's hulk but to the confessional. When will this man come? I do not know, but human things are in such a condition that humanity must necessarily receive a general absolution after an immense act of repentance, or the decree which will put an end to its adventures will be pronounced. In the latter case God would not interfere. It would soon have finished. It would employ war, the circus, debauchery, suicide, anthropophagy, and would so go on until its last day."

Thus wrote (I dare not say that he thinks thus), the most remarkable writer of the clerical party in France. Whom does he expect, to convert with his cries, and his insults? Violence leads to nothing. Rather gentleness than violence says Lafontaine in one of its fables. This moral is that of Mess. Emile Ollivier and Darimon, formerly deputies of the opposition, whose doubtful proceedings I have before noticed. The sail is now torn away; there is no longer any doubt. These two gentlemen who love power have thought that gentleness was the wind which filled their sails, and brought them safely to port. They began by making to M. De Morny, and to the right of the Corps legislatif, concessions in language, they have finished by making capitulations of conscience and by betraying principles. These small Judases have received their thirty pence.

The Moniteur of the 10th announces that M. Rouher has appointed members of the commission charged with examining the question of checks—Messrs. Emile Ollivier and Darimon. It is as well to observe that it is not as deputies that the two ex-members of the opposition have been chosen by the Minister of State.

While Mess. Ollivier and Darimon were interring their past and putting on their new skin, the official world was assisting, at the Hotel des Invalides, at the obsequies of Murshal Pelissier. There were, as in every ceremony of the same kind, great quantities of troops, and but little emotion.

But we will make no stay at this funeral. The electoral movement for the General Councils becomes general and active as we approach the 10th June, the day when the elections will take place.

We will return to England. At the last sitting of the House of Lords Lord Clanricarde called the attention of the House to the enlistments of Irishmen in the United States by the Federal authorities. "This is a casus belli," said the noble Lord who is a friend of the South. Lord Russell did not say the contrary. This incident resembling the language of the English newspapers confirms those who think that the recognition of the Southern States by the Cabinet of St. James might soon be again discussed. But there is no reason why the Americans should be uneasy. It is the thirtieth time that a Lord has discovered a casus belli between his country and the American Republic, without being contradicted by members of the cabinet. I am not yet however acquainted with the fact that England has drawn her sword against the Americans. I speak since 1860.

The 2nd June, the English authorities gave up to the representatives of the King of Greece the Isle of Corfu.

The Emperor and Empress of Russia have just arrived at Potsdam where they were received by King William. But before leaving Russia the Czar found it necessary to protest against the coup d'etat, effected at Bucharest by Prince Couza. The Invalide Russe sees in these manœuvres of Couza the hospodar, encouraged by the Cabinet of Paris, a symptom of the approaching ressurection of the Eastern question and strongly approves of the letter of the Sublime Porte, which declares the measures taken by Prince Couza to be illegal and contrary to the treaties. In spite of this the prince on his arrival at Constantinople was warmly congratulated by the secretaries of the legations of France of, England, of Austria, of Prussia, of Italy and even of Russia.

The Finnisian insurrection is making considerable progress, and the insurgents who up to this time had contented themselves with declaring their hostility against the ministers of the Bey, now begin to threaten foreigners, that is to say the unfaithful. Reinforcements, in prevision of certain events have been sent to the French squadron which is cruizing before Tunis.

A telegram from Madrid announces that the Spanish admiral Pinzon who has taken possession of the Chincha Isles belonging to Peru, is about to be replaced by Admiral Pany. This nominating is considered as a sort of disavowal of M. Mazarred, and a commencement of the satisfaction to be given to the just claims of the Peruvian authorities.

At the moment when I was about to close this letter, I received the English papers, which are full of reflections relating to the last sitting of the Conference of London. The Times, the Morning Post, the Daily News, the Daily Telegraph, and the Morning Herald, not to speak of the union papers, appear to agree on this point viz: that in spite of the prolongation of the armistice, the hopes of peace are rather lessened than increased.

In my opinion, these appreciations are too pessimist.

The last news from the United States, cause us to anticipate that in a short time decisive events will take place. We await the next mail with great impatience. At the departure of the last one, the position of the Federals was excellent, and all the chances were in their favour. Grant after passing the Rappahannock and driving the enemy before him to Spotsylvania, turned the position of Lee, who had entrenched himself in a formidable manner, and forced him to come back to the North Anna River. This is a great success, for Lee has been forced to abandon his positions, which he had chosen for fighting, and will be obliged in his turn, to attack the Federals who have covered their advance with formidable batteries.

From the position which he has chosen, Grant threatens at the same time Lee and Richmond. It is possible that the secessionist general may be obliged to shut himself up in this town, for the least movement of the Federals might invade and thus compromise the whole of his army. At the same time Butler, who has vainly attacked fort Darling, is actively occupying the whole of the army of Beauregard, who cannot reinforce Lee, being forced to remain to the south of Richmond.

The only point at which the Confederates have obtained any success is at the valley of the Shenandoah, where the army of general Siegel was beaten. General Siegel, sustained a defeat, but he has been replaced and his army is again in a position to withold and to make attacks.

In Tenesee the Federals have obtained great advantages, and are marching rapidly into the interior. The Federal Government seems to be aware of its strength, and it has taken in respect to the new Mexican Government an attitude which is the cause as much uneasiness for the friends of Maximilian.

At Matamoras, disturbances have taken place between the French and Mexicans, and every thing tends to prove that if the secessionists be subdued, the war will almost immediately be transferred from the banks of the James River to those of the Rio Grande.

The French Government has it is said made a new effort to induce England to propose a mediation; but the prudent English have answered they must first see what would be the result of Grants Campaign. It is dubious whether the Yankees would ever consent to allow Europe to interfere in their affairs.—

REPORTS.

The steamer Carthage Capt. Thompson arrived during the night from Shanghai which port she left on 12th. Inst. She had to anchor that night under the land, and rode out the Typhoon with both anchors down, and engines going ahead.—When off Amoy saw the tea clipper Taeping, laden, from Shanghai bound to London, making for Amoy, with foremast, bowsprit, main and mizen topmasts gone.

During the bad weather here lately, the vessels arriving have anchored at an alarming distance off to the westward, and rain and wind has doubtless prevented them from displaying their bunting. The Frederica, Resolution, Warrior, Julia Ambridge, John Brightman, Mahe a large ship deeply laden, a barque with painted ports with double topsail yards, black, another with topgallant masts down, a brig, Hamburg, just arrived, are all at anchor much to the Westward of Green Island. The Malvina Vidal from Rangoon and Snigapore arrived last night, Salacia from Japan, and a Spanish barque. The Maggie Laudo towed the Futtah Allum to the Eastward this morning.

NOTICE OF REDUCTION OF PASSAGE MONEY.

IN the year 1857 the Directors made a considerable reduction in the Company's rates of Passage Money, which continued in force till 1861.
In that year owing to the extraordinary rise in the Cost and Freight of Coals, and the enhanced price of all descriptions of Naval Stores, the Directors were reluctantly compelled to return to the rates of Passage Money previously in force. They are now happy to state that a decrease in the price of Coal and other expenses of Steam Navigation enables them to reduce the Company's Passage rates to the undernoted scale, which will take effect from and after the 1st June next, viz:—

From Hongkong to:—

Suez,	$460
Malta,	510
Marseilles,	530
Gibraltar,	530
Southampton,	550

Reserved Rates for Single Persons.

Suez,	$929
Malta,	1,020
Marseilles,	1,060
Gibraltar,	1,060
Southampton,	1,100

Reserved Rates for Married Couples.

Malta,	1,290
Gibraltar,	1,348
Marseilles,	1,348
Southampton,	1,388

The charges for Children are in proportion to the above.
The above rates are exclusive of the amount payable to the Egyptian Transit Administration for conveyance of Passengers through Egypt, viz.—
For First-class Passengers, $32
Children above three and under ten years, half-fare.

EXTRACTS.

A Floating Palace.

We have had the pleasure of visiting the new steamboat St. John, designed for travel on the North river—partly completed for the People's Line to Albany, the following being a brief description:

"The St. John was built by John Englis & Son and is 417 feet long by 85 in breath, clamped and strapped in the strongest manner. Her decks are laid with 4 inch oak plank, with water-tight compartments. The engines, built by T. F. Secor & Co., have 86-inch cylinders with a strike of 15 feet. The fittings throughout are princely. Instead of the usual open berths on the lower deck are state-rooms, the only open berths being in the ladies cabins. The St. John can accomodate over 1,000 passengers, with all the luxuries of hotel life. The main passenger deck is thrown into a grand two story saloon a balcony running round the entrance to the second range of state rooms. The decorations of this palace like apartment exceed anything of the kind ever before placed upon a steamboat. Velvet carpets, rosewood furniture, immense mirrors, statues, chandeliers, &c., in short, everything required to add to the comfort and enjoyment of her passengers. Two "Bridal" rooms are elegantly fitted up for the patronage of the newly wedded who take a trip to Albany in this steamer. The St. John will be commanded by Captain Wm. H. Peck, who for the last thirty years has been favorably known as a steamboat Captain.—N. Y. Atlas.

A Submarine Vessel of War.

Experiments were made recently in the port of Rochelle to test the qualities of a submarine vessel of war the invention of a Captain Bourgeois of the French navy. The vessel was stated to be so constructed as to admit of being almost instantly submerged by compressed air and a peculiar apparatus with which it was provided. The only part that remains visible is a small tower whence the commander may observe the position and motions of the ship to be attacked, and direct his men which way to steer in order to strike her hull with the formidable spur which constitutes the chief means of attack of the new contrivance. The experiments, however were not satisfactory; more than an hour elapsed before the new vessel got under water with an indolent sort of see saw motion. She slowly performed the whole distance from one end of the port to the other, and then veered round to return. On nearing the starting point she very nearly ran foul of one of the vessels in the port whereby the power of her spur would have been tested in rather an unexpected and unwelcome manner.

A letter from La Rochelle contains some further details relative to the submarine boat Plongeur. She does not draw more than eight feet of water her engine is 80 horses power, steam is replaced by compressed air, and her crew of twelve men are completely protected from all danger. The Plongeur is intended to be a formidable engine of destruction. Her spur is formed like a tube, and an incendiary shell may be placed in it. Should an enemy's fleet be at anchor the Plongeur will drive into the nearest ship, and then retreat, unrolling at the same time a metallic wire. When a safe distance an electric spark will cause a great explosion, the enemy's ship blown up.—Ibid.

Diseases of Over-worked Men.

Time was when the very phrase, diseases of over-worked men, would have been considered foolish, and out of the question; now, it conveys a truth of national importance, which the nation must consider. From being a comparatively idle world, we have of late become an insane world on the subject of labor. So long as the muscles merely were employed, so long little harm was done; we remained men; now we aspire to be gods, and we pay the forfeit of our ambition. From overwork we now get a class of diseases the most prolonged, the most fatal. The suns of our best men go down at noon, and so accustomed are we to phenomenon that we cease to regard it as either strange or out of place. It is through the mind now that the body is destroyed by overwork; at all events, it is so mainly. The men of intense thought—men of letters, men of business who think and speculate, men of the state who are ambitious to rule, these men are sacrifices. With them the brain has not merely to act on its own muscles, bidding them perform their necessary duties, but the one brain must needs guide a hundred other brains, and all the muscles thereto appended. An electric battery works a single wire from the City to Brighton, and does its work well, and goes on for some months before it is dead or worn out. Can it do the work of a hundred wires? Oh yes, it can, but it must have more acid, must wear faster, and will ultimately die sooner. We may protect the plates, make the battery to an extent self-regenerative as the body is, but, in the main, the waste is in excess of the supply, and the wear is as certain as the day. Men of letters, men of business who do their business through other hands and do great business, and men immersed in politics, suffer much the same kind of effects from overwork. They induce in themselves, usually, when they suffer from this cause, one or other of the following maladies: Cardiac melancholy, or broken heart; dyspepsia, accompanied with great loss of phosphorus from the body; diabetes, consumption, paralysis, local and general; apoplexy, insanity premature old age. They also suffer more than other men from the effects of ordinary disorders. They bear pain indifferently, can tolerate no lowering measures, are left long prostrated by simple depressing maladies, and acquire in some instances a morbid sensibility which is reflected in every direction; so that briskness of action becomes irritability; and quiet, seclusion and moroseness. They dislike themselves, and feel that they must be disliked, and if they attempt to be joyous, they lapse into shame at having dissembled, and fall again into gloom.—Social Science Review.

Rather a Hard Hit.

Ministers catch it sometimes as well as other people. A minister was travelling where the road was difficult to find, and requested a man by the wayside to direct him, naming the place where he wished to go.

"Well," says the hedger and ditcher, "keep on just as you are now going, about a mile and a half; there at the cross-road you will find a minister, who will direct you to the left about a couple of miles and there, at the fork of the road, is another minister, who will direct you to the right about three miles and so on; at every fork and cross of the road is a minister to inform you which road to take."

"Ah!" says the parson, "what do you call ministers?"

"Why," says the other, "those things which stand at cross and forks of the road, with some things like a hand on them."

"Finger-boards, you mean; why do you call them ministers?" said the preacher.

"Because they are always pointing the way to other people, and never go themselves!"

A Practical View.

The learned teacher of a Sunday School in the North of England was one day endeavoring to prove to the pupils the existence of a Divine Being, as illustrated by two peculiar adaptation of the structure of every animal to the country and climate it was intended to inhabit. After lecturing for some time upon this subject, he exclaimed, with much eloquence—

"But why go to the icy pole or to the burning plains of Africa for examples to prove this important subject? Is not a man himself an excellent example of the power and wisdom of the Divine hand? Had he been born with a fleece upon his back, it is true he might have been comforted by its warmth in the icy regions of the north, but what would have become of him in tropical countries, or under the equator?"

One of the pupils, thinking the last question more especially directed to himself, answered with evident simplicity—

"They could clip him!"

☞ A German wrote an obituary on the death of his wife, of which the following is a copy:

"If mine wife had lived until next Friday, she would have been dead shust two weeks. Nothing is possible mit der Almighty. Aede tree falls so must it stand."

☞ A manufacturer has succeeded in making such an improvement in Brittania metal goods, that it is asserted he is obliged to warrant them not silver.

NEW MEDICINE!
THE GREATEST SUCCESS OF THE AGE!!!
NO MORE COD-LIVER OIL. SYRUP OF IODIZED HORSE-RADISH of GRIMAULT and Co., Apothecaries and chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris. According to the certificates of the physicians of the Paris Hospitals, detailed in the prospectus, and with the approbation of several Academies, this Syrup is employed with the greatest success in place of Cod-liver Oil, to which it is really superior. It cures diseases of the chest, scrofula, lymphatic disorders, green sickness, muscular atony, and loss of appetite, at regenerates the constitution by purifying the Blood, and is, in a word the most powerful depurative known. It never fatigues the stomach and bowels like the iodide of potassium and the iodide of iron, and is administered with the greatest efficacy to young children subject to humours, or obstruction of the glands. Dr. CAZENAVE, of Saint Louis hospital, Paris, recommends it particularly in cutaneous diseases conjointly with the dills which bear his name.

PHOSPHATE OF IRON, DE LERAS, apothecary, doctor of science, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris.—This new ferruginous medicine contains the elements of the bones and blood, and iron in a liquid state. From observations made in the Rubr hospitals and detailed in the prospectus, it is superior to ferruginous pills, lactate of iron, iron reduced by hydrogen, pills and syrup of the iodide of iron, and cures rapidly, stomach complaints, painful digestion, poverty of the blood, loss of strength and appetite, and the diseases incident to females. It is the best adjunct to COD-LIVER OIL, and the best preservor health in tropical climates.

ELIXIR OF PEPSINE prepared by GRIMAULT and Co., chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris, according to the formula of Dr. CORVISART, knight of the Legion of Honour, physician to H.M. the Emperor of the French. PEPSINE is the gastric juice itself, or rather the digestive principle purified, which digests food in the stomach. When from various causes the supply of the digestive fluid is too small, the inevitable consequences are bad digestion, gastritis, gastralgia, inflammation of the mucous coats of the stomach and bowels, heartburn, anæmia, loss of strength, and in females, general derangement. The elixir of Pepsine, which is sanctioned by the approbation of the Paris Academy of Medicine, speedily cures all such diseases, and prevents vomiting during pregnancy.
